

TRAFFIC AND ROAD SAFETY ADVISORY PANEL

26 JUNE 2018

PUBLIC QUESTION

Questioner	Friends of Northumberland Road
Asked of	Councillor Jerry Miles, Chair of TARSAP
Question	Following on from our lengthy diatribes on the dangerous speeding on our road it is now quite clear that the Council are reticent to do anything about it unless/until a serious incident occurs – and similarly our repeated requests for a 20mph arrangement have also been repeatedly rejected: Accordingly whilst we understand that a 20mph ZONE ‘should be self-enforcing’ (eg. via “vertical displacement cushions” aka ‘speed humps’ etc) are there any good reasons why a 20mph LIMIT could just not be deployed instead (as in evidence in many other London Boroughs, and yet without the ‘humps’) ?
